At a mosting of the students of the Sheffield Scientific School held Friday afternoon the following resolutions were adopted, and published in the New Haven (Conn.) Pulla. lium, of July 1st: WHEREAS, On Tuesday, June 27th, 1865, Adelpert Barnes Stone, of the Junior Class of the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale College, was drowned while bathing in the Connecticut river at Haddam, therefore, Resilect, That we, his friends and classmates, most deeply deplore the irreparable loss inflicted by this blow upon us, in common with the very large circle of loving friends, which the stering worth and warm heart of our late companion had at-tached to himself by mora than ordinary bonds of friendship.

Resolved, That to his deeply afflicted family we tender our most heartfelt sympathy, and although we cannot enter into the depth of sorrow with parents and sisters, yet there are many of un who feel that we have really lost a brother.

Resolved, That A. B. Stone has gained the most sincere respect and esteem of Pro-fessors and students by the high stand as a scholar which he has attained, not only by his natural abilities, but by the systemalic and consciousticus attention which healways paid to his studies, and by the true gentlemanly spirit—the overflowing of a warm and generous heart—which he exhibited in his daily intercourse with others.

Resolved, That his druth has left a vacancy in our number which can never be filled. Each recitation, the sad looks on every face, the resum where we so often met, and each familiar scence, recall to us the terrible reality that Stone is gone; and we feel that no one could have been taken from us who was more generally known and loved, no one who will be more deeply not, and each familiar scence, recall to us missed and mourned; and so long as we live, each one of us will retain one spot in his heart sacred to the memory of A. B. tone.

Resolved, That we recognize in this sad event the hand of Him who doeth all things well, and that we bow ourselves in obe-dience to His will, and command the afflici-ed family to the tender mercies of our Heavon's Father.

Besolved, That the members of the Scientific School wear a badge of mourning for 30 days, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, and that they be published in the New Haven

Weny- Evans, Esq., of the Academy of Music, read with posseful effect the Dec-laration of Independence. The banes and up the theme by performing "Vivel' America," after which Judge D. K. Cartter, the Orator of the Day, was introduced, and received with applause. He had made no careful preparation, he said, and as the address was not written out, our readers must content themselves with the following report of it, which is nothing but a general outline of the extemporaneous speech : The Judge regretted the necessity of antouncing to the people a disappointment It was expected that Governor Brough would address them, and for his part he would have much preferred listening to the Governor than make a feeble attempt to gratify them and realize their expectations. But the Committee had over-parsuaded him. In his address the audience would have to take a number of things for granted : They must take it for granted that this is the greatest nation in the world-that requires no argument; that we are the bravest people in the world-that requires no argument; that our people are the wisest in the world-there might be some need of argument for that; and that we have got the best men and the most beautiful women in the world.
